Civic Progress Indicated By Home Modernizing Movement

CHANGES MAKE BETTER CITY

Improves Property Values and Appearance to Out-of-Town Visitors.

According to civic leaders the cities that are behind the Home Modernizing Movement are those that will progress. A study of home modernizing over a wide range of towns indicates that when the idea of improving the homes within and without begins to become general, the community starts along the road to progress.

The reasons for this are evident. Modernizing the home improves property values. The home that is modernized not only gains an increased value, but this value is reflected upon the other homes in the neighborhood.

Two or three modernized homes in a run-down community have been known to strike a new spirit that spreads like an epidemic.

Indicates Community Spirit

The community that is known to have a large number of modern appearing homes carries a reputation for being progressive. The very appearance of the residences indicated that the property owners are up-to-date and abreast of the times.

Strangers in the community are forced to judge by what they see. Their comments on the town are largely based on what they have observed. When that comment is favorable, nine times out of ten their reaction is caused by the view of streets and avenue lined by attractives homes of recent design.

Spic and span homes surrounded by beautiful lawns and shrubbery speak of prosperity and worth. They indicate to the casual visitor that the city is progressive and hustling. Beautiful residential streets are a mark of prosperity and progress.

Modernization Brings Progress

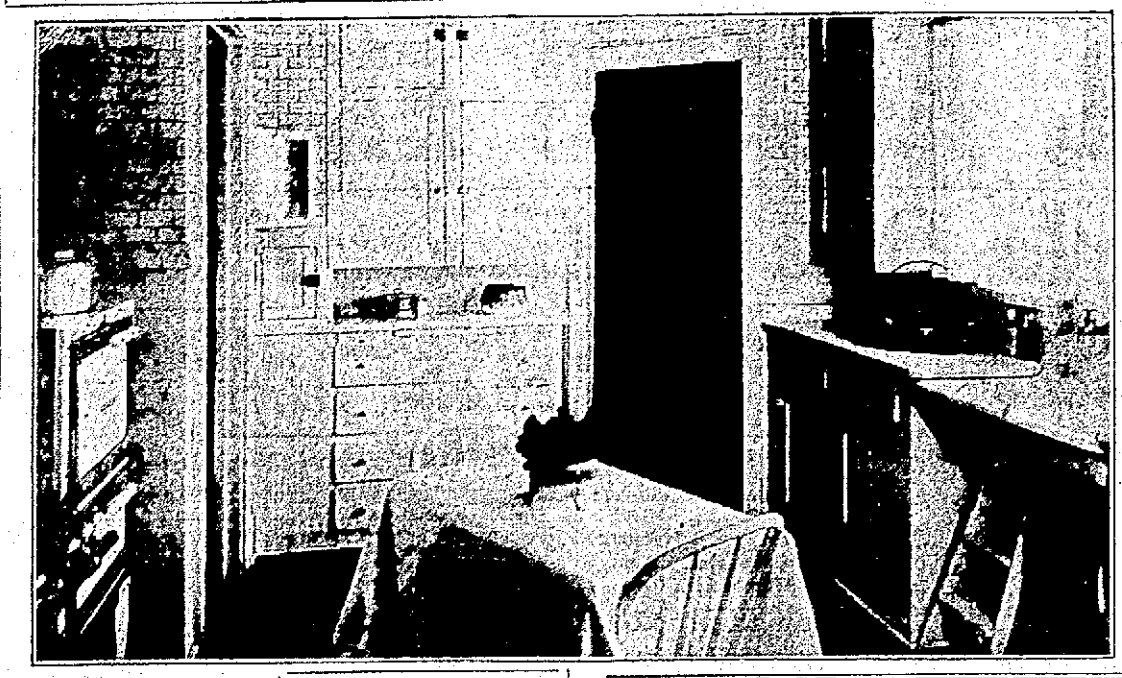
Real estate experts who have studied the relation of business prosperity to the activity in home building and modernizing affirm that invariably the town where modernizing is in progress actually is a live, hustling business center. Modernization and progress go hand in hand, according to these students of business.

Modernization stimulates trade, for the activities of modernizing a home are widespread. The building trades apparently benefit first for many persons think of remodeling as the main function of modernization. An investigation reveals that diverse number of types of business also benefit. The department store supplies rugs, curtains, draperies, and new bed coverings as well as many other household appliances and needs. The furniture stores receives calls for new tables, chairs, wicker porch furniture and the like. The real estate and insurance agency writes new policies covering fire and life risks. The bank finances the improvements with loans on first mortgages.

Modernization brings new demands to the family and aids in raising the standard of living in many homes.

All these things work to the good of the community.

EVERY HOUSEWIFE WILL ADMIRE THIS NEAT KITCHEN



The old and the new in kitchens is illustrated on this page. Above is a modern kitchen, spic and span, with many of the latest devices that aid the housewife in her work. Below the old fashioned kitchen, a regular inferno in summer.

NEW KITCHEN CLEAN, COOL

Housewife Spends Many Hours In Most Important Room of House.

The illustrations on this page vividly present the before and after in kitchen arrangement. It's an object lesson of what is possible in modernization.

The old fashioned kitchen at the bottom is typical of days gone by, yet it must be admitted that many of these home-made ovens still remain to slowly bake the housewife on sultry summer days.

At the top the modern idea in kitchens is presented. Note the gas stove, the handy cupboards and the convenient sink. This workshop of the home is a delight to the housewife that owns it.

Kitchen Most Important Room

When modernizing your home do not overlook the kitchen. It is one of the most important rooms of the dwelling for here the housewife spends hours each day. It is only fair that this room shall receive the attention that its importance demands.

Kitchens should be planned to aid in saving steps. They should not be too large for oversized kitchens add more steps to the daily miles that are usually traveled in preparing three meals a day.

The relation of the stove, sink, table and refrigerator should be considered also with labor saving in mind.

Many modern homes have eliminated the pantry in favor of cupboards which line the walls. Here are placed the pots and pans, dishes and foodstuffs. Plenty of cupboard room is always desirable.

Good Ventilation Needed

When remodelling the kitchen make certain that ventilation is provided. The process of cooking makes the kitchen hot and uncomfortable. Fresh air must be provided. Ventilating fans are now used in many homes to draw out the heated air. A ventilating flue leading from the coal stove will draw off many kitchen odors.

Must Be Easy To Clean

Many kitchens were constructed with soft wood floors. Today linoleum is largely used as a floor covering over such woods. This linoleum may be varnished to protect its surface and add longer life.

Select the floor cover with cleanliness in mind. The covering should be easy to keep clean.

A wainscotting of wood or tile board often runs up the side walls to the height of four feet, while above it the walls are enameled. With this construction a damp cloth may be used to clean the walls.

The trim of the doors and windows should be simple as less dust collects when the surfaces are plain.

FOR HASTY MEALS

Breakfast Nook Necessity In Modern Home Life.

The formality of setting the dining table for a hasty breakfast is avoided when the house is equipped with a breakfast nook. Today many homes are being remodeled to include these handy eating places.

The breakfast nook may be a distinct alcove off the kitchen or simply a built-in affair in one corner of the room. Some breakfast nooks are designed to be folded up and hidden in a recess in the wall. Others are stationary. Many housewives prefer to have the table so constructed that it can be moved for cleaning the corner and for other kitchen purposes. The seats may be of the box type so that they can be made to serve as storage places.

Painted Furniture Smart and Economical in Home

Painted furniture is in vogue now, and the housewife who yearns for a bedroom suite in her favorite color is able to gratify her taste inexpensively by the simple matter of purchasing the needed can of paint and brush.

Paint and varnish dealers are experienced in this work and will gladly advise the brands of material to use. They can give pointers, too, on the best way to do the job.

Since we have put so much in our modern brains, what did primitive men put in theirs which were fully as large?

Special Window Glass Needed To Admit Rays

The rays of light that come through the window of your home do not contain the health-giving ultra-violet rays, for the ordinary pane of glass in the window bars its progress.

You can turn your living room or sun parlor into a real health resort by glazing your windows with a new special type of glass that permits the introduction of the ultra violet ray.

As the average man knows, light is composed of waves. White light, sunlight, is a mixture of waves of all lengths. If you pass a beam of light through a prism, the prism will separate the waves of light and show a spectrum or bar of colors. At one end of the bar is the violet ray, made up of short waves. Then come blue, green, yellow, orange and red, each with a longer and longer wave length. Beyond red is infra-red, made up of wave lengths so long that the human eye cannot perceive them. Beyond the violet at the other end of the light bar is ultra-violet, too short to be visible to the human eye.

Doctors tell us to get out in the sunshine, but often this is not possible. Many of us resort to a sun bath in our home. But a sun bath in a room containing windows of common glass is useless as we see. To be beneficial the glass must pass the ultra-violet rays.

REAL ESTATE LOAN SUPPLY INCREASES

National Association Makes Report on Present and Past Situations.

An improvement in the supply of capital now available for real estate loans in comparison with the supply available six months ago is reported by the National Association of Real Estate Boards following the completion of its fifteenth semi-annual survey of the real estate market, a survey made of the Association from the collected reports of 428 local real estate boards representing the principal cities of the United States and Canada.

This improvement in the supply of available capital, the National Association points out, indicates that the fundamental problem for increased construction—the problem of supplying funds for wise building projects—is now presenting itself as a less difficult one probably due to the fact that capital is less disproportionately diverted directly or indirectly into speculative fields and will tend to be placed increasingly at the disposal of the home builder. Comparing the situation today and six months ago, when the first results of the stock market debacle were being felt, the report shows that today 30 per cent of the cities report an equilibrium between supply and demand in real estate mortgage loans and capital, 48 per cent report that desirable loans are seeking capital and 22 per cent report that in the mortgage money market capital is seeking loans.

The report six months earlier showed that in 53 per cent of the cities real estate loans were seeking capital; 19 per cent reported a surplus of capital seeking investment, and 28 per cent reported equilibrium between supply and demand. In the present survey no effort was made to gather statistics on the actual amount of money now available for construction in the various cities reporting. The National Association is now engaged in an investigation to determine just what sums are now ready to be used for building purposes.

GEORGE E. STATHAKIS of Buffalo, rock by trade and philosopher by ambition and profession, made an oak barrel, got in and went over the Horseshoe Falls at Niagara, probably to his death. One of his fellow countrymen, another Greek philosopher, more than 2000 years ago jumped into the crater of Vesuvius, disappearing forever, or at least until the judgment day.

He wanted to improve the multitude, and, like the man that "Spoke the Exposition Dinner," he has been more talked about than ever before.

Steve Brodie, of our land, known as the Brooklyn bridge jumper, gained fame and large remorse for his action on the Bowery running the risk at all. His friends threw a welcoming dinner on the bridge. He was waiting in the water to be picked up.

Reporters that knew Gil are eager to spoil a story and disappoint Brodie, so he spent the rest of his life telling Bowery visitors from the country that "every man should take a chance once."

He went over Niagara Falls in the same fashion. A dummy was put in the barrel, while he, below the falls, waited in a similar barrel to be "rescued."

At Wellington it was reported that hailstones three inches in diameter fell in the streets and several windows were broken.

In the Chicago territory yesterday there was such congestion on the many beaches as had never before been seen. Conservative estimates were that more than 700,000 persons sought relief during the day at the Lake Michigan bathing places along the Chicago shore.

Chicago, too, experienced one of its most serious traffic jams, with an estimated million automobiles choking her highways.

Greatest of All Economic Follies

The cost of war is usually underestimated Reference is not made to the awful cost in human life in dismembered limbs in wounds, in blood in shattered nerves or in physical and mental suffering heartache and sorrow, but to the financial cost alone When account is taken of the cost of war, the practice is to figure the direct cost of the conflict not the cost of the maintenance of the military establishment created in advance of it or the cost of doing such justice as it is possible for a nation to do to those who were active figures in it

This observation is impelled by figures given out in Washington last week showing that without including such expenditure as may result from the enactment of the World War veterans bill into law appropriations for the veterans and the pension bureaus amount to almost one fifth of the entire cost of the operation of the federal government and exceed the total of the $737 000 000 appropriation for the military functioning of the war department and the $378 000 000 appropriated for the navy department the two aggregating $715 000 000

The figures published show appropriations for $190 000 000 in round figures for military and naval compensation $120 000 000 for military and naval insurance $11 000 000 for soldier bonuses $15 000 000 for salaries and expenses $35 600 000 for medical and hospital services and $6 000 000 for hospital facilities and services and an appropriation of $215 000 000 for army and navy pensions and the cost of handling them the latter item being approximately $1 100 000 making a total of approximately $715 000 000 If to this is added the $31 555 000 the estimated expenditure which the World War veterans pension bill will necessitate in the form in which it was passed by the house the expenditure in behalf of the veterans of our wars will aggregate about $746 000 000 in the fiscal year 1931

This sum will very probably be increased as the years pass for the increased amounts which will be paid out to or in behalf of World War veterans will more than offset the dwindling of the Civil war pension expenditures regardless of the pending pension bill If the present pension bill becomes a law in its house form—the senate rates would make the amounts larger—the added expenditures it is estimated will be $50 788 448 in 1932 and gradually increase to $74 577 118 in the fiscal year 1935

The popular inclination is to figure the military cost of the World war by the military and naval expenditures of the years 1918 1919 and 1920 which were approximately $20 000 000 000 But this does not include the discounts we made to the Allies on the war debts they owe us, the interest the government has paid and will have to continue to pay on the money it borrowed with which to carry on the war or the various amounts it has paid and will pay in the future in the way of compensation, insurance bonuses medical and hospital services and pensions as a result of the war

In one form or another it has been said before and well may be said again of it economic follies, that of war is the greatest

The British Naval Policy

Further Russo Japanese occasional saber rattling during the last month or two may be taken very largely as for home consumption but the discussion of the British naval policy and position in Gerarchi generally taken to be his magazine mouthpiece no matter for what purpose intended is well worth world attention

Gerarchia says Great Britain came out of the London naval conference not only supreme upon the seas but also retaining her strategic position as arbiter in any conflict, whether in Atlantic or Pacific waters an accomplishment due to the fact the magazine says that Britain guides most international conferences her policy being to bring about the limitation of other naval forces than her own and keep alive naval antagonism between other naval powers

Admitting that England has conceded a principle of parity with the United States the magazine pays tribute to the wonderful political sagacity of Britain by saying her delegation gained far more than it lost by assenting to this principle of parity by securing prevalence over the fleet of a country which might be able to menace its world wide marine dominance and at the same time solving the problem of guaranteeing a minimum of force in the two principal world theaters of the Pacific and of Europe It explains how this was done by saying

In the Pacific England with the Versailles treaty assured itself of an arbitral position in any conflict which might occur between Japan and America through obtaining former German Pacific islands for naval bases while keeping Japan and America from getting the islands required for the construction of their own naval bases

Also by inducing America to intervene in the Russo Japanese war to slow up the Japanese progress it obtained a mutilation of a Japanese victory sowing thereby Japanese American antagonism which is germinating already in commercial and financial expansion in China

Gerarchia points out how illogical it was to fix seventy per cent compared with the 100 per cent of Great Britain and the United States as the proportion for the Japanese fleet and not consider France entitled to any such proportion despite the vast colonial possessions of the French holding the explanation to be the fact that if France should develop a big navy a large part of the British naval forces would be tied up in Europe and make it impossible for Britain to maintain a dominant position in the Pacific in the event of a conflict between the United States and Japan

Finally to keep down the French fleet Gerarchia says England suggested and had accepted at Washington a criterion of parity between Italy and France with a well defined idea of checking the development by the French navy by chaining it to the Italian navy which it considered would always be small because of Italy's lack of financial resources Thereby the France Italian antagonism has been increased and this constitutes one of England's best means of conserving its mastery of the Mediterranean in addition to its European hegemony

Regardless of how the average American may feel regarding the London naval pact and the desirability of its approval by the senate—and it must be admitted sentiment in the main is for approval on the philosophy that half a loaf is better than no loaf at all—there must be agreement that Great Britain was in the position of advantages at the close of both the Washington and London conferences In the former the United States in position to acquire not only naval parity but more than that naval superiority did all the fighting In the latter this country made no such sacrifice as in the former but so far as parity is concerned we accepted the shadow of parity for the substance

There must be admission that there is much of merit in the Mussolini magazine article and much food for thought

There is very general agreement now that Pluto is a planet with an orbit of about 250 years but who wants to wait 250 years to see a planet which is only telescopically visible at the best?

The valuation of New York City property for taxing purposes was increased $1 000 000 000 during the last year The taxeaters of New York seemingly are as voracious as elsewhere

The Italian government has mopped up Sicily again with the result that 211 of the Mafiaders were put on trial last Saturday as members of the Mafia The mass operation business apparently has got as far off as Italy

Only ten persons were murdered in London during the year 1929 and London's population is equal to the combined populations of Chicago Detroit Cleveland Cincinnati and St Louis But then the law enforcement agencies are not dominated by grafting politicians over there

There is this to be said for the plan of the two youths who will seek glory by attempting a flight across the Atlantic in a glider towed by the Saturnia they will have a swift rescue ship at hand in case of mishap

There are so comparatively few of us that it's hardly likely that we half working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs who were beyond the draft age will ever be compensated for the disabilities we suffered as the result of eating those wheat substitutes during the war

The United States district attorney out in Kansas City Missouri will seek the indictment of a gas company out there as a manufacturer of liquor charging that the company made no report of a meter in a small garage which was raided by dry enforcement agents and found to contain an 800 gallon still in plain sight of any one who might read the meter which showed a gas consumption running as high as $135 monthly Watch your gas meters There's no use inviting suspicion

A POSSIBLE BASIS FOR THE RUMOR.

Editorial Opinion

THE BASIS OF CITIZENSHIP

The citizenship applications of Dr Macintosh of Yale and Miss Bland Canadian war nurse form both fine cases exceedingly puzzling in their facts Both are admirable women both and their admission would be welcome news—provided only that the decision in the cases did not set up a precedent which would be dangerous to general application

Of the two it seems to us that Miss Bland stands on surer ground for she clearly bases her refusal to bear arms on religious scruples and both our laws and the principles of our government respect such conscientious Any other rule would infringe the basic right of religious liberty The only doubt in her case relates to the source of her scruples Were they a matter of individual faith or were they part of a group faith which she held as a member of a cult? For obvious reasons of practical convenience our laws have heretofore limited the exemption to religious scruples of the second category The point is not clearly answered by Miss Bland's statements Yet all things considered we think the circuit court correctly assimilated the facts of her case to those involving membership in an established religious faith In an event the distinction is of importance chiefly in war time when a draft board must have a ready and ready test to apply and the sincerity of such scruples is much harder to judge

We are not able to follow the circuit court's view of Dr Macintosh's application As we read his statement he associated no scruple based on religious faith but merely sought to assert his right as an individual to refuse to uphold his nation if he thought it did not deserve to be upheld No nation in its senses would apply the universal draft in a minor war But in a great contest when the life of the nation was at stake it must obviously have the right to claim the support of its fighting men or perish Dr Macintosh's statement clearly denies this right and we do not see how an exception can be made in his case without weakening the whole basis of our government

Judge Manton refers to the Kellogg pact to bolster up his argument But we have yet to learn that this treaty is a dogma of revealed religion and recalling the countless interpretations which have been placed upon that document a body no better could any be drafted to think escape could be relieved by couchsafing an individual view of those extremely vague phrases

A grave issue is involved in Dr Macintosh's application We hope the decision can be carried to the supreme court for a definite statement of the law such as was given in the Schwimmer case If the case is limited without weakening the general rule well and good We do not think that the circuit court decision accomplishes this result —New York Herald Tribune

NOT WORTH SAVING

The New York boxing commission endeavors to save heavyweight fighting from financial and moral bankruptcy by stipulating that all contracts for bouts in that state shall contain a provision that the contest is not to be terminated by a foul

Boxers are to be protected against low punches But this in the judgment of ring experts will encourage rather than discourage clean fighting As the New York Sun puts it this latest decree of the commission hoists the signal that everything goes

The Sun also expresses the opinion that the next legislature will see a proposal to repeal the boxing law since the commission has demonstrated in a number of fights recently its complete inability to control what it calls a disreputable racket

For many months the whole heavyweight fighting business has smelled to heaven The public has paid high prices to see one bout after another terminate under circumstances most odorous Fouls long counts, dope and what not But little fighting worthy the name

The New York commission's gesture to protect the public by legislating against foul is hardly worth while Until some fighters come along the high fans would better turn to croquet and ping pong games that are on the level and which can not be terminated by low punches — Cleveland Plain Dealer

Outlook for Epileptic

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Referring to the various troubles that man is heir to the doctors speak of functional and organic diseases An organic disease affects the structure of a part or organ while a functional disease affects the action of an organ rather than its substance

Unless the functional disease is epilepsy Between attacks the victim of the disease is as normal in appearance in actions and in mental activity as any of his associates

Epilepsy has been described as the falling disease The victim falls as if shot The face is very pale and the eyes turn upward The head is drawn to one side or backward The hands are clenched with the thumb doubled under the fingers The entire body becomes stiff

Following this condition there are convulsive movements of the body feet and limbs The muscles twitch the eyes roll and there is frothing of the mouth Unless carefully watched the tongue may be severely bitten

Gradually the convulsion passes and the patient falls into a stupor

On the other hand the patient's trouble may be so slight as to escape notice There may be simply a suspension of the particular act in which he is engaged at the time He may hardly realize that something untoward has occurred

The frequency of the attacks varies They may appear daily or even more than once a day On the other hand they may come on once or twice a month or only once a year

There is no association of epilepsy and lack of mentality When I was a boy in school the smartest pupil in my class was an epileptic Many victims are more than ordinarily bright

Epilepsy is one of the most discouraging of the nervous diseases to treat But at the present time when special attention is being given to diet occupation and the improvement of nutrition and the elimination of the wastes of the body the outlook is more hopeful

There are many factors to be studied Uncorrected eyestrain nasal trouble and other forms of irritation seem to have a bearing on the attacks Undoubtedly disturbances of the intestinal tract is productive of much trouble

Every person who has the symptoms of epilepsy should be placed under the care of an expert

The Ways of the French

BY O O McINTYRE

Paris July 7—Outside of the Bois—I love the woods—one of the greatest charms of Paris to me is in the special epidemic of street scenes The pigeons in a sudden swirl like a quick breeze in dry leaves and die away as quickly Every day there are dozens of jangles

On the Boulevard Raspail the Left bank to you—across the street to me—this morning a tart dressed with a sweeping blond handlebar mustache suddenly stopped his dallying cab with a force that stood up on his seat and began to gesticulate and shout at nothing in particular

The usual group addled about him a gendarme me a rolled up tagged sleeve at his own mustache and as slowly walked away The driver finally leaped to the ground gave his ancient contraption a swift kick and then calmly drove away The crowd smiled and life went merrily on again

In Rue Lappe where men wear the long waisted cap and ping muffler of the Apache a little while later a drunken man staggered out of a bistro and using his coat for a pillow lay down in the gutter calmly to enjoy a snooze Some one placed a red rose behind his ear and the entire block doubled up in a gale of laughter

A waiter rushed from a cafe in Rue Dupont and hurled several small coins into the street voicing the French equivalent of Ban He walked rapidly up and down pressing his hand to his forehead now and then in feigned agony It was his protest over a patron's insignificant tip

In the Place Vendome a helmeted figure bearing the insignia of the republic was collecting a small sum demanded for a parking privilege The owner of the car in operabouffe manner caught a strand of his luxuriant beard in the steering wheel A saleswoman rushed out with a pair of scissors and snipped him loose

Last night I saw the famous Mistinguett the idol of the French revues who owns the most celebrated pair of legs on the continent She disports at the casino de Paris—a washed out blond with a gin husky voice and reputed to be past sixty years of age When an actress in France passes forty she fudges on her age and instead of becoming outmoded is venerated Bernhardt not by any means a spring chicken was not as old as she claimed to be and it was her years even more than her art that endeared her Mistinguett's boy friend is Earl Leslie a personable young American who as an actor would not last for a single matinee at the Palace But he is featured in every revue with Mistinguett

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

One of the most extraordinary gaps in scientific knowledge is our appalling ignorance regarding the interior of the earth

Beneath our feet lies an unknown world Is the earth a ball rigid as steel? Does it undergo periodical expansions and contractions causing an alteration in our maps Is it a great ball of molten lava covered with a comparatively thin crust of metallic rock The miner has been digging deeper and deeper into the bowels of the earth But he has learned little or nothing which helps us to determine the actual nature of the earth's interior

We know little or nothing of any gravity importance beyond a distance from the earth's surface inward of about 6 000 feet It is believed the interior of the earth of temperature of absolute zero as some scientists contend Or has it a temperature of 212 degrees Fahrenheit? The old theory, influenced doubtless by theological considerations was that heaven was above hell below us and consequently it was natural to infer that the interior of the earth was a hot, molten furnace

The modern view tends to swing in the opposite direction The scientists who hold that the earth has a molten fluid interior are in the minority Many geologists now maintain that the earth has an outer crust, say 500 or so miles thick composed of rock or mineral substance Beneath this there is believed to be a metallic core which under enormous pressure but there are those who are in revolt against this prevailing view Thus J Leslie Mitchell in Hanno says

This theory of the earth's interior appears to me even more farcical than that of the molten fluidists It is even more absurd in its concept It is pre Copernician It stones to the earth its ancient dignity as the center of the universe Both reduce gravitation to conceive of gravitation as a mysterious force alien and apart in the earth's bowels a force drawing down upon itself in ever increasing pressures all material substance attractable But gravitation presupposes repulsion as well as attraction The earth's mass it is reasonable to assume is held together not crushed together by gravitation The masses hold by attraction in a homogeneous framework there is as much an outward as downward pull below a certain depth pressure must definitely decrease

If this theory be true then the interior of the earth must be largely hollow a sort of vast empty cavern having the temperature of outer space

Are there enormous pressures in the interior of the earth?

Do these pressures increase as we penetrate deeper into the interior

So far man has not been able to penetrate very far beneath the earth's surface Morro Velha's great mine in Brazil—the deepest of all mines—shows no appreciable increase in pressure at its deepest point

The interior of the earth may be another Mammoth cave after all—honeycombed with tunnels corridors and passages It doubtless contains many great reservoirs filled with gas heat and molten metal or lava It is probably the home of many large bodies of water great interior seas and oceans — Copyright 1930 International Feature Service Inc

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

A pessimistic German philosopher once wrote that the tragedy of life was changed We may never count on things remaining the same This grieved him greatly And yet it would seem to most of us who are not philosophers but just observers of life and people that it would be much more tragic if there were no change Pascal another philosopher who was a Frenchman wrote Time heals all griefs and dissensions because one changes—one is no longer the same person Neither the offender nor the offended are any longer themselves

In what chains of grief and tragedy he would be caught if nature did not keep on doing her slow work changing us healing us little by little making us forget

The happiest old people are those who keep much in the company of people younger than themselves They retain their love of the same things that youth loves They reminisce little They look forward to good times to come Thus they provide happiness for themselves and others

We are not born equal to anybody in particular Every man is not as good as any other man We only make ourselves equal to some one else when we possess qualities as good as he has There is no such thing as being born equal or being made equal by a system of government We can if we will be equal to the best but it's a hard job and takes a long time

* * *

Most of us at some time or other, tired of people and work and the old routines of life think we would like to live apart from the world surrounded by a high wall with broken bottles on the top of it The chances are that after the first week we would be eager to come out through the gate go down town to the store stand on the corner and pass the time of day with anybody who would listen to us There is a great deal more happiness to be found in taking an interest in things and people than there is in ignoring them

SHOVELS BLANK TOLEDO TEAM, 8 TO 0

RICHARDSON LIMITS VISITORS TO 6 HITS FOR SIXTH VICTORY

Locals Play Errorless Ball and Hit Hard in Pinches To Win.

Playing errorless ball behind a six hit performance by Richardson the Marion steam shovels had no difficulty in registering their sixth triumph of the season yesterday afternoon at Lincoln Park by blanking the Toledo Scales 8 to 0 The locals hit hard in the pinches to back Richardson a fine mound work so that only on one occasion was he in danger of being scored on

Two fast double plays helped out of promising Toledo rallies in the eighth and ninth innings although the second twin killing was a trifle doubtful The latter decision didnt make a whole lot of difference however in the final score

Start Early

The Diggers started right out in the early part of the game to sew things up scoring three times in the first frame and repeating for the same number in the second After that they laid off until the fifth when they scored No 7 and the eighth frame when Rizor and Maskey worked the hit and run for a final tally. Pine scoring all the way from first on Fritz's single through second base into right center

Neumiller, the big Marion first sacker hit his second homer over the right field fence in the last two Sundays The one yesterday came in the second with Bowen and Pine aboard and although it was not quite as powerful a drive as his first, still had plenty of carry The smash off Robinson hit about 10 feet in front of the fence and then decided to bounce on over. Harry Pine and Ping Rizor were the only local players to collect more than one hit, both gathering two singles Apple got the only Marion extra base hit in addition to the home run, a double to center in the first inning.

Fleck, visiting third sacker, collect

St. Mary's Given Slight Edge Over Calvary in Tuesday Battle

CAN'T MAKE IT

Here's a young man who should be one of brightest stars of the big Leagues but for some unexplainable reason is spending his time with St Paul in the Association breathing home run records He'll go back some day He's none other than Benny Paschal and he belongs to the Yanks

BENEFIT GAME FOES BOTH CONFIDENT OF VICTORY WEDNESDAY

No. 1 Leaders Appear Too Strong for Lee Street in Annual Clash, However

Both Lee Street and Calvary who meet each other in the annual benefit game Wednesday evening at Lincoln Park, are strongly confident of victory despite the fact that the No 1 leaders on first appearance look much the better baseball aggregation The Monday night pace setters are without a reliable hurler or at least one reliable enough to stop the Calvary sluggers with any degree of success but then the Lee Street hurlers point back at the most too successful Gruber and Mosengan who have been getting some good shellackings during the present season

Perhaps the No 2 rulers are right at least they have a right to their opinion and after all there's nothing harder to beat than a team that won't be beaten and that's the Lee Street team all over They're just about the unspoiled ball team in any of the four leagues and if they don't win from Calvary, Gruber and Company will at least know they've been in a

IRISH GOOD BET TO HEAD PACK IN FIRST CHURCH LOOP RACE

Present No 1 Leaders Favored To Edge Out Lee Street Wednesday

BY BOB ELLIOTT

With three teams having an equal chance to carry off the championship, the battle for first place in the best church league eclipses by far the action in the other three leagues during the next five days play Calvary, trailing alone on a two game lead met unexpected opposition last Tuesday evening. In the Baptists and were handed a 10 to 2 walloping, that nearly cost their lead to a single game over the Irish and Epworth No 1 who are in a tie for second place

Tuesday at Lincoln Park the Saints and Calvary meet in a game that will decide whether the Baptist disaster was simply a big mistake or whether it was the beginning of the end of a mighty good baseball team We're inclined to think it's the latter and for that reason we're picking the Irish to continue the work that the Baptists started With Gene Gunder hurling beautiful ball the Irish shape up as a real contender for the title and there's no one we'd rather see representing the best church league in the Fifth World Series than this team They've never won the league pennant and it would be a good thing for everybody concerned if they could break up the Epworth Calvary monopoly on this league

Will Have Backing

Gunder will have plenty of fans to cheer him on when he faces the line up of Calvary sluggers and he'll need all of them They say he's improved wonderfully since last year and he'll need all of that improvement too If he can get by the lineup of Oaklands Niemiec Robbins, M Gibson and Clover Mosengan he'll deserve all the praises they're showering on him Maybe he will maybe he won't, but we're betting he will

Calvary again figures in the limelight Wednesday evening when they oppose Lee Street in the annual benefit game at Lincoln Park This is the only game scheduled for Wednesday and should attract a capacity crowd The No 2 potential champions have good reason why they shouldn't lick Calvary but we do like that old bugaboo no pitcher and that's a bad situation to be in when you're meeting Calvary The No 1 loop nine should win by four runs at least but there's a good chance for an upset

Sery U Welt grocers will do-or-die against the Kappas Friday at the Silk Mill and it will more than likely be the latter A Kappa victory will practically clinch the league

IKE BOONE STARS AS ROBINS WIN EASILY FROM BOSTON, 10-4

Flatbushers Take Over League Lead as Cubs Lose Two in Cincinnati

NEW YORK July 7—Ike Boone the rookie third baseman from the shores of the blue Pacific weighing 210 pounds on his best and as frisky as Fanny Ward was the toast of Broadway today—anyway that part of Broadway that is Brooklyn

Making his debut with the Bronx in a sort of personal farewell—we believe this is his fourth time up in the majors—Mr Boone drew forth his trusty old bowie knife and carved right into the hearts of 40,000 fans He did a circus catch in the first canto got his first basic banging in the third and lived up to his name of the Babe Ruth of the coast when he tossed the lively orange for a double in the seventh

Indeed Mr Isaac Morgan Boone looked so sweet that Manager Wilbert Robinson decided the fans had had enough for one day's money and after his executive watchers the gentleman from circulation had just as the green of the bareback riders has a flowing robe of crimson placed on her shoulders and led away to the sweet tempo of the Blue Danube waltz the little fat boy came forward with old Ike's hunting coat and once both took a bow to the mad hurrahs of the mob Brooklyn by the by was playing Boston and they won 10 4 and the league lead again

Reds Win Two

Gabby Hartnett got his nineteenth homer and Hack Wilson his twenty fourth but the Reds downed the Cubs twice 7 to 4 and 8 to 7

And truly what a man is this Art Shires! With the Yanks a run ahead in the tenth the former White Sox kid boy went in as punch hitter in the tenth with the bases clogged and smacked scoring the tying and winning run—Senators 3 Yanks 2

Homers by Terry and Jackson won 10 to 8 for the Giants over the Phillies and Pete Donohue's good pitching accounted for the ten timer again in the New Yorkers favor 6 to 2

Earnshaw pitched his eleventh victory and won 4 to 3 for the Athletics over the Hub Sox

The climbing Cardinals defeated the Pirates 1 and 12 with Haines and Grimes (at last) the winning pitchers

Brown allowed the Brownies only seven hits and Cleveland routed St Louis 7 to 0 White Hort treated the White Sox in the same cruel fashion and turned in a win for Detroit 7 to 2
